

Useful 5XX Notes

1. INDEXES AND BIBLIOGRAPHIES

Current LC policy dictates that bibliographies and indexes, when present in the same monograph, are recorded together in a single 504 note. Because the 504 note in CIP records is often incomplete, and because much Member Copy does not follow the LC policy, some of the examples indicate ways to modify existing bibliographic records.

Originally appears as:
504 Bibliography: p. 301-304.
500 Includes index.

Modify to:
504 Includes bibliographical references (pages 301-304) and index.

Originally appears as:
504 Includes bibliographical references (p.) and index.
Verify that bibliography exists, then modify to reflect pages included (i.e., fill in the blanks).

If more than one index is included in an item (author index, subject index, etc.) then:
500 Includes indexes
or
504 Includes bibliographical references and indexes.

Occasionally a more specific contents note may be desirable as in:
500 Includes cumulative author index for 1st -17th annual meetings.

2. LANGUAGE NOTES

Language notes (translations, parallel bilingual texts, etc.) are placed in field 546.

- English and Polish.

4. QUOTED INFORMATION

Include quoted information (usually from t.p. but not always) which seems useful (often to justify an added entry).

- "Presented to Parliament by the Secretary of State for the Home Department by command of her Majesty, November 1981."
- "Texts reporting on sexual harassment cases from Canadian Human Rights Commission news releases and the Commission's Summary of Decisions and Dossier Publications."
- "Held on May 21, 1985, and sponsored by the American Enterprise Institute for Public Policy Research, Washington, D.C."
- "Privately printed."
- "A guide to living with a disability, written by the real authorities."--P. 1 of cover. Note: the title of the book ('No apologies') isn't specific to the content. Lifting the quotation from the cover gives a better idea of the actual scope of the book.
- "The George Wythe lecture, 1984."
- "Sponsored by the Woodrow Wilson International Center for Scholars, the Atlantic Council of the United States, and the Association of American Colleges."
- "Convened by the Anti-Defamation League of B'nai B'rith at its national headquarters, New York City, April 8, 1986."
